III. Narva's Vision Of Park College

Before us, see a charming villa,
That nestles at our very feet;
It is religion's holy temple,
And education's noble seat.

Above the college hangs a banner,
With "Holiness to God" inscribed;
For virtue, truth, and pure religion .
By eager youths are here imbibed.

An atmosphere of classic learning
Pervades these academic walls;
The Graces dance in fairy circles,
And muses sing through attic halls.

Here Science builds her brilliant temple;
Devotion bows at lowly shrines;
Religion lifts the open Bible,
And truth is delved from Wisdom's mines.

Freshmen

Being a frosh at Park College is a unique experience. The race begins with Hell Week. Where else would you receive a welcome like that? They really roll out the red carpet, what with the goons and the Commons (a-hem) gourmet cuisine. Not to mention the plush, shall we say "intimate" accommodations provided by the Hawley Hilton (if you are female) and the elegant regal atmosphere of Herr House (if you're male).

And then of course there's the little detail of academics. The teachers are great but the homework you can do without. It's much more fun to sit on the Herr House wall and B.S. with your friends, or to hang out in the pub, or bowl a few games at the Brig, or go up to the Point and drink Kool-aid. But, we're here to win a marothon and realizing this is all a part of being a freshman.

Nobody has a faculty like Park's. No matter how old the classrooms are, or how bad the food is, or how saintly the administration, most of us stick around because of the faculty. What a bunch of characters. We'll remember them as long as we live.

RIVERBOAT DANCE

"If this is what college is like, I'm never going to graduate!" Good music, food, company . . . all on an authentic riverboat chugging down the Mighty Mo.

No, it isn't what college is really like, but, the second annual riverboat dance was a great way to give everyone a taste of what Park's student activities are all about.

Returning students were able to 'swap' tales of the summer and get acquainted with new students, while dancing to the music of "Smiley Connection" and eating a picnic style dinner provided by Food Service.

The Student Union Board sponsored a campout on September 17th and 18th at the Presbyterian campgrounds about eight miles from campus. While the number of people attending was small, their spirit of togetherness was strong. The campout commenced on a high note with the campers gathering around the fire over roasted hot dogs and marshmallows. After breakfast on Sunday, campers listened to a sermon by Dr. Bob Bailey.

Hell Week

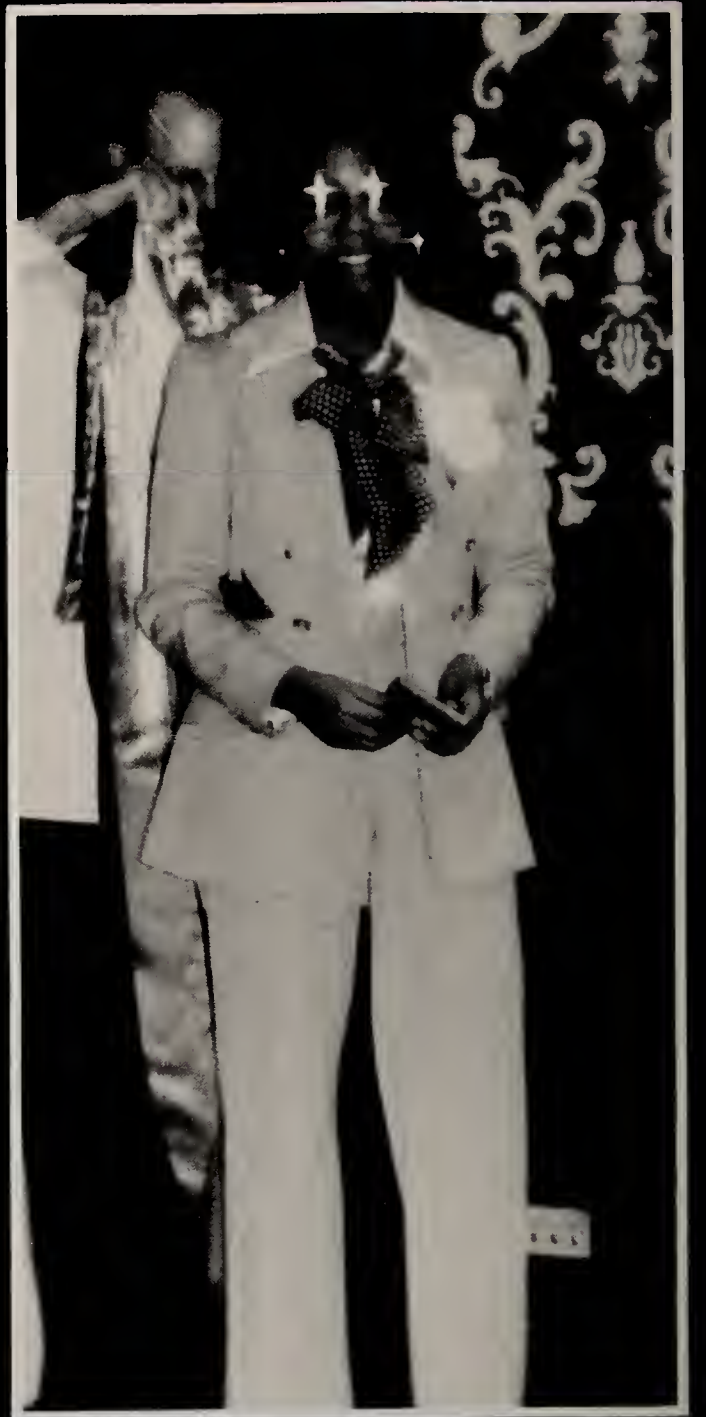

The Goons made their annual trip from the North Country on September 8th, 9th and 10th. The Goon Squad welcomed in the Frosh in the traditional manner. All events went smoothly and Hell Week '77 ended in a spirit of unity between the frosh and the upperclassmen.

Harvest Fest

Harvest Fest began Friday with a powderpuff football game . . . Hawley-New Dorm vs IFT. After the game a banquet was held in the Upper Commons where the Harvest Fest Court was introduced and JoAnn Mitchell along with her teammates received a trophy for their victory over IFT of two-zip.

On Saturday, last minute preparations were made for the Harvest Fest Ball at the KCI Marriott. Entertainment was provided by the "Circulation Band" and impressionist-Bill Mellburg. This was a night to remember by all as Paula Davis and Tony Nunn were announced runner up and Arlene Spain and John Burton were announced queen and king of 1977 Harvest Fest.

POWDER PUFF AND BANQUET

AT THE DANCE

Amazing. There was no other word for it. Before they entered the Chapel on Tuesday, Nov. 8, all the people that attended the Kreskin lecture knew that he was billed as one of the world's foremost ESP experts. But they wouldn't believe what they saw unless they'd seen it.

It's true that Kreskin somehow hooked together three rings belonging to audience members, then unhooked them without leaving a mark on any of them.

It's also true that he found his check, strategically hidden under Merrill Proudfoot's rear end.

But most amazing is that Kreskin, although he said that there's no such thing as a hypnotic trance, had thirty people up on stage shivering in sub-zero cold one minute and sweating in Sahara Desert hot the next. He called it "auto-suggestion", he had ten of them simultaneously experience a sharp unpleasant sensation on their behinds as if they had been pinched. (A couple of them almost punched the people behind them). Probably the highlight of the evening was when Kreskin told Jay Havener that he wouldn't be able to remember his own name. And for the life of him Jay couldn't. Amazing.

THE AMAZING KRESKIN

JEAN-MICHEAL COSTEAU

A church is a Cathedral for the Spirit. But Jean-Micheal Costeau told of a different Cathedral: the ocean

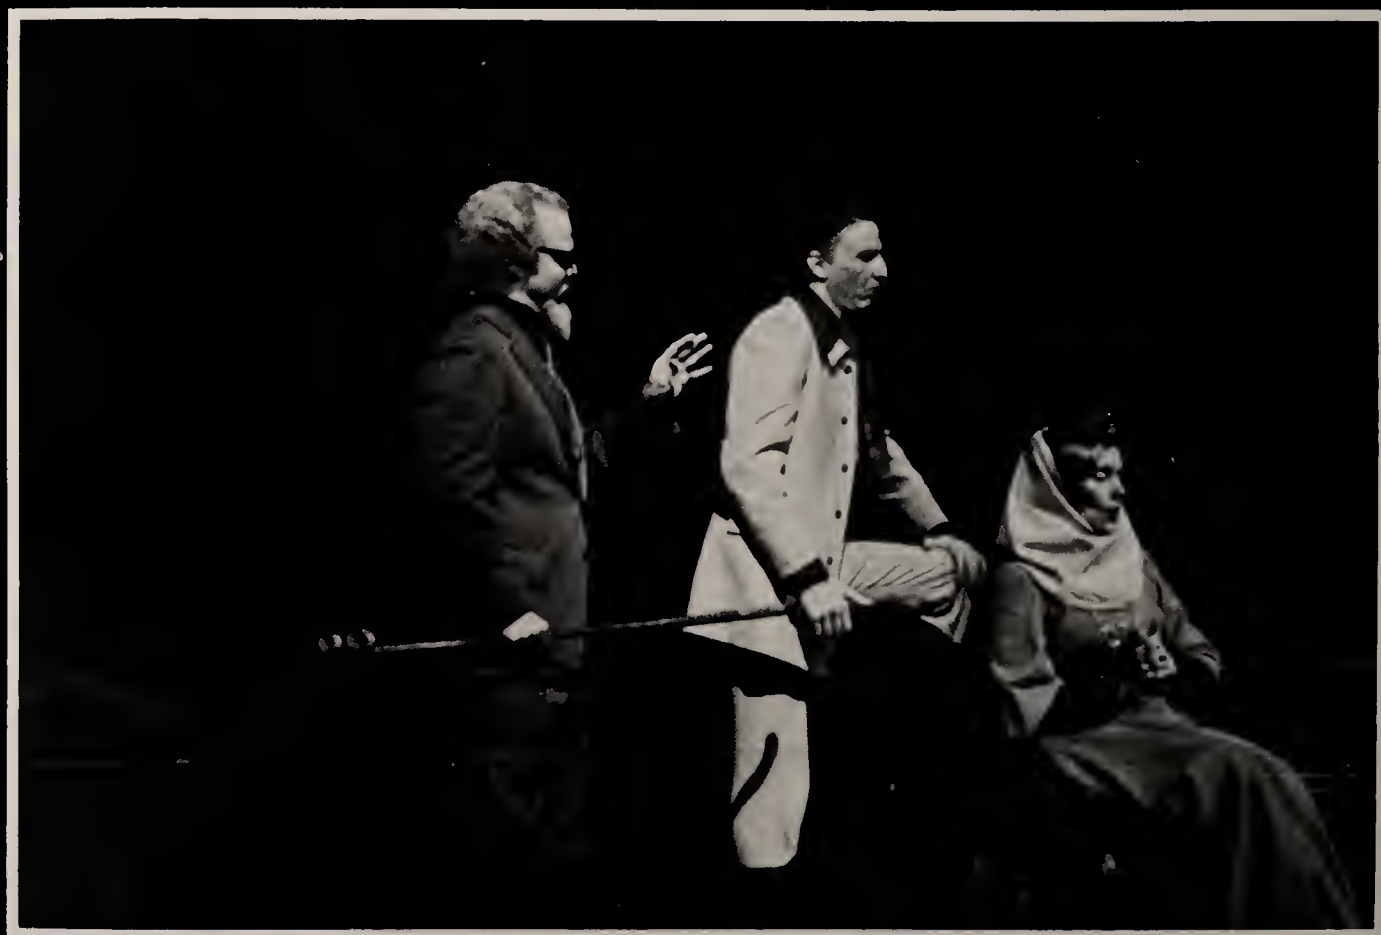

His interests and talent vary, but they all focus on one thing — the ocean. Jean-Micheal is the eldest son of the world renowned oceanographer, Jacques-Yves Costeau. He is an architect, film maker, educator, and oceanographer.

According to Costeau, if we continue to pollute and over-fish, the oceans will soon end up a "Biologic desert."

"We are acting like hunters," he said. "We haven't yet started farming like on land."

Luckily man has not totally destroyed the beauty and grandeur of the ocean. Covering virtually three-fourths of the earth's surface the ocean provides a vista which rivals outer space in both interest and unexplored territories. But for Costeau, sharks are his primary favorite subject of study. "When I'm in the water I'm in their back yard . . . I owe them some respect." He added that as you begin to understand the sharks behavior your fear is reduced and you learn to respect them.

The atmosphere was relaxed, and those who came were lucky enough to have a peek at the inside of a magnificent Cathedral.

At first you thought it was a play about King Henry IV of Germany. Then you found out it was a play about a guy who's crazy and thinks he's Henry IV. But in Act II you discover it's a play about a guy who everybody thinks is crazy because he thinks he's Henry IV but actually he's quite sane and he's pulling the wool over everybody's eyes. Sound confusing? It was, but the Actor's Prologue Company's production of Enrico IV by Luigi Pirandello was so well done that it didn't matter.

Artist in Residence James Assad directed the production and played Henry IV. Other major roles were played by Peggy Sumner, Chuck Gordon, Allen Boardinan, Woody Owen, Susan Gurwell, Ray Smith, Jerry Lineback, James Zackaryan and Pete Blakely. The set and costumes, both of which contributed much to the play's authenticity, were designed by Baker Smith. Also effective were the sound design and lighting, done by Michael Schweppe and John Alcorn, respectively. Enrico IV was the APC's entry into the American College Theatre Festival competition in Omaha, Nebraska.

RUBY DEE AND OSSIE DAVIS

On Thursday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m., Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee presented "An Evening in Black America," at Park College in the Graham Tyler Memorial Chapel. The program included dramatic readings, anecdotes and short scenarios by black authors.

The husband and wife team currently host "The Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee Story Hour," a one-hour show heard throughout the country on 60 National Black Network radio stations. In addition; Ms Dee has appeared in "To Be Young, Gifted and Black," "Buck and the Preacher," and "Sesame Street." Mr. Davis' credits include the writing of "Purlie Victorious," and the direction of "Cotton Comes to Harlem."

The couple was exceedingly vibrant and extremely personable. It was a highly entertaining evening to be remembered.

Get Ready

Preparation for success becomes a continuous process...

Upperclassmen, finally! Sophomores can sit around and watch those ignorant frosh make idiots out of themselves and forget that, only last year, they were just like them. And if they haven't enough smarts (yet) to move off campus, they can move into one of the spacious, elegant rooms in the luxurious New Dorm, affectionately referred to by its' residents as The Holiday Inn.

Sophomores

Sophomores are now familiar enough with the academic scene that they can declare a definite major. And if they were one of those freshmen who started their college careers off by being on the Dean's list both semesters, they know better by now.

Sports

The sports scene at Park became increasingly popular as the college expanded its horizons to include golf, soccer, baseball, volleyball, and basketball. The competition included both men and women.

In Park's first year as a member of the Ozark Collegiate Conference in basketball, and Terry Dennis's first year as coach, the Pirates won the Conference with a 9-1 record and finished 18-10 overall.

The intramural programs also flourished as participation reached an all-time high. The theory of, sound mind- sound body, is being pushed at Park as we reach for new levels of academic and athletic excellence.

Juniors

Two laps down, two laps to go. Juniors have a peculiar advantage. They can sit back and enjoy the comfort of thoroughly "knowing the ropes" without the queasy, nervous feeling that seniors have. They know that next year, they'll still be in school, not out in the cold, cruel world. They'll still be going to classes, writing papers, taking tests.

..... Then again, sometimes it seems like you're never gonna get out.

A.B.C. Co-Sponsors, with B.S.U., such activities as Black History month, intermural volleyball and basketball, and career seminars.

This year Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis were guest speakers for Black History Month as well as the Kansas City Inner City Jazz Orchestra. Listening to "Dry Jack" playing jazz in the pub was also a service provided by A.B.C. Thanks a lot; we really enjoyed it.

SPRING FLING

Spring Fling began with a softball game between the students, who only had 8 players, and the faculty, who had enough to go out in shifts. Guess who won - you got it- the students 26-6. Though small in number they were large in power; they didn't even have cheerleaders to cheer them on like the faculty had.

On Saturday everyone attended the big fling in Kansas at the Travel Lodge, and 'Swaned' to Lonnie and the Band. Thanks Tina and King - a job well done.

AT THE LODGE

We are what we dream;
we just need to prove it...

Go!

Seniors

Senior year is a time to be grateful. Come May (or December or even August) there'll be no more papers, exams, all-nighters studying, or those Godforsaken three hour night classes. But that also means no more post-exam parties at the point, sitting around in the Pub acting goofy with your friends, or stopping by Bar Phoenix for a well deserved beer after surviving your three hour night class. No more basketball games, no more club meetings, no more traying, no more checking your mailbox. Next year you'll be nine-to-fiving it. Senior year is a time to get sentimental.
